Built-in charts & reports

To simplify the development of new scripted charts, we provide the code for all built-in charts and layouts. The aim is for developers to be able to create their own scripted charts based on the examples provided by us.

If you still have questions, feel free to refer to our support team.